Professional Development Information

- We have been working as a school on two strategies that are instructional priorities. The first is teacher clarity. This is stating the learning objective and the success criteria; what they are learning and how they will know they have it. The other we have started working on is structured classroom discussion. Using conversations to build academic language and vocabulary. This starts as a process of providing sentence frames to guide discussion. Using discussion frames to guide students through conversations. These strategies work for all content areas making learning more structured.
